We have appended the following articles today.

The Sacred Heart's Promises to Families (click on blue text).

Subtle Channels of Divine Grace

The former appeared in the first issue of Apropos and provides interesting and provocative advice (at least in our current society) regarding the roles of family members within the family.

The latter article is a lengthy article on the works of Maurice Baring. Readers whose appetite for further insights into Maurice Baring's life and works was whetted by Professor Robert Hickson's article on Baring in Apropos 30/31 may eat their fill from this essay.
